Biography

I have served in law enforcement since 1982 as a Police Officer and latterly as a Designated Investigating Officer, principally working in the field of financial and fraud investigation.

Prior to that I served in the British Army from the age of 15 to the age of 27, where I specialised in electronic warfare and signals intelligence.

Throughout my time in the army and police I regularly worked as a volunteer with learning disabled people, both through 'Gateway' clubs and as a residential volunteer assisting with respite care.

I served two terms as a Parent and Local Authority Governor at Tewkesbury School and I remain an Associate Member of the Governing Body due to my involvement with the Sir George Dowty Trust, as one of its Trustees.

I am a Parish Councillor within Ashchurch Rural Parish Council, a member of the Mythe Medical Practice Patients Participation Group (PPG), a founder member of the executive group of 'Ability' Gloucestershire Constabulary's Disability Support Association and Chairman of the National Branches District of The Royal British Legion.

In the past I stood shoulder to shoulder with our friends to seek to prevent the closure of Alderman Knight School and always had the desire to do more. That opportunity presented itself in 2013, when I was delighted to be invited to become the Local Authority Governor for Alderman Knight School, an appointment I was thrilled to accept.
